

The Clandestine

The Clandestine is a comedy webseries about a group of geeks and one smoking hot chick who form a secret outlaw motorcycle club.

It's Sons of Anarchy meets The Office. The show takes place in Belfast, Northern Ireland, and takes the piss out of nerds and motorbikers... and old people... and everything else.

The show features killer motorbikes, sexy ladies, geeks doing dangerous stuff, a great sense of humour, and a soundtrack packed with music from the best up and coming bands in the Irish rock scene.

The first two episodes of The Clandestine are already online and they are gearing up to shoot the remaining eleven episodes in September. As luck would have it the shoot is due to finish the day before TitanCon 2012 so we've invited the cast and crew to come down and be our guests and talk about this highly anticipated web series.

Cast members Bennett Warden (Marcus), Michael Lavery (Freddy), Dermott Hickson (Will) and the supremely talented and beautiful Milana Vayntrub (Anna) will all be at TitanCon along with Joseph Campo (Producer/Director), Luca Rocchini (Director of Photography) and Paul Corscadden (Sound Recordist).

The Clandestine is due to premier online in October. Geeks on bikes forever!

Milana Vayntrub

Milana Vayntrub has been making a name for herself in the Los Angeles comedy scene for the last few years. Milana's Youtube channel Live Prude Girls has over 30k subscribers since she started it a year ago.

Milana's first TV role was in 1995 at just eight years old as Tatiana in the first season of ER. In December last year Milana posted a hilarious mockumentary on her Youtube channel called Dead Reel: The Milana Vayntrub Story about how she has gone on from her appearance in ER to supposedly make an entire career out of playing dead girls. We highly recommend looking it up online, very funny!

In October 2012 Milana will be starring in The Clandestine as Anna, the hot biker chick.
