

Miltos Yerolemou Syrio Forel

Always a popular guest, it just wouldn't be TitanCon without him!

Miltos Yerolemou is a Shakespearean trained actor based in London with an impressive list of theatre credits to his name including work with the Royal Shakespeare Company and The Globe Theatre. Until recently he only had a small amount of TV and film experience but in 2010 Miltos was cast in HBO's Game of Thrones as the elegant yet deadly sword master Syrio Forel. Syrio is hired by Eddard Stark to be Arya's instructor in the smooth Braavosi fencing style known as Water Dancing.

Miltos has recently been appearing in A Midsummer Night's Dream from the producers of War Horse at the Old Vic Theatre in Bristol. Any guesses which character Miltos plays? It could only be Bottom of course! And Miltos' Bottom is fantastic! <obligatory_Shakespeare_joke>

Miltos will once again be putting prospective recruits through their paces in the exciting workshop we call "Water Dancing Live with Syrio Forel. Just so."

Making the Eight

These symbols you'll notice on some TitanCon members badges represent our loyalty scheme.

This is of course a reference to King Robert Baratheon in Game of Thrones where he is talking about bedding a girl from each of the Seven Kingdoms plus the Riverlands which makes it eight, hence the term.

We'll be keeping track of which events you attend over the years up to a maximum score of eight - not that we're making any promises about running this convention for that long or anything, but we might...

Can you make the eight?
