

William Simpson

Will is the storyboard artist for HBO's Game of Thrones, a crucial role that keeps him very busy and interacting with just about everyone in the production from the directors and producers to set designers and prop makers. He created the beautiful animations in the historical stories on the GoT BluRays. A fantastic guest who brings a great deal of insight from the other side of the camera.

Will is also known as a comic artist and illustrator and over his 30 year career has worked for all the major comic houses: Dark Horse, DC, Vertigo, Marvel and 2000AD.

Will has drawn storyboards for films including Breakfast on Pluto, Closing the Ring, Reign of Fire, City of Ember and Your Highness. Many of these were filmed in Belfast and this has naturally lead to Game of Thrones.

Will was at Belfast Moot 2 in 2010, TitanCon 2011 and 2012. We are thrilled to welcome him back to TitanCon 2013.

Emma Andrews

Emma Andrews works in the drapes department on HBO's Game of Thrones. Emma tells us that for the season two production she was mainly making tents and banners and more tents and yet more and more tents! During season one she did a lot of embroidery including the wee bits that Sansa and Arya are working on when we first meet them in the opening episode. Emma also stitched the stag and hand of the king emblems into the chair backs of the Small Council seats.

Emma will be running two Dothraki Jewellery Workshops at TitanCon 2013 offering the opportunity for TitanCon members to create their very own pieces of Dothraki jewellery.
