

Andy Luke

Andy Luke is a writer who draws.

His 24 hour comics, Gran, Absence: a comic about epilepsy, and Don't Get Lost are widely regarded, and his hi-speed comixing Newszoom with the Arts & Disability Forum produced a 'live' six-week newspaper in comic form.

Using this go-at-it approach Andy facilitated The Magnificent One Day Comic Book Factory at TitanCon 2012 and it was a fantastic success.

Patrick Brown

Patrick Brown lives in Belfast and has been creating and self-publishing comics since the mid-1990s. He is currently working on The Cattle Raid of Cooley, a graphic novel adapting the ancient Irish epic Táin Bó Cúailnge, drawn in red ink in an improvisational style.

The Society for Creative Anachronisms (SCA) is a group dedicated to researching and recreating the Middle Ages in the present.

The SCA are running one of our Crafting Workshops on Saturday and will also be running Archery Workshops as part of our Coach Tour afternoon activities at Clondeboye Estate on Sunday 8 September 2013.

After our feast on Sunday, just as the sun goes down we'll move back out to the courtyard area for a spectacular fire dancing performance by IGNITION.

Ignition have over 10 years' experience of Fire Dancing, Circus Skills and making dreams come true.
